JOIN US FOR A CONFERENCE

on Friday, November 10, 2023 at Goodwin University

...to look at the original meanings of these (now) controversial issues -- acknowledging the challenges in some parts of the country but setting those aside to reclaim them for the positive impact they promise.

How did these important, impactful concepts become enmeshed in political conflict?

This conference will not try to debate these questions, but to understand their original meaning and positive impact, look at how they are defined but different, and perhaps how they can be recast to minimize conflict and apply them in higher education to further our goal of helping our students be successful?

Invitation and registration information coming soon.
